

PURPOSE VISION ACTIVITY

From Panoramic Vista to Pinpoint View

Close your eyes and imagine yourself in the gondola of a hot air balloon drifting high above the ground with the gentle wind carrying you to a location yet to be identified. You have a bird's eye view of the horizon with all of the various landmarks below. Now, harness the panoramic vista of life and bring to mind the points of interest that appear as you begin to create your purpose vision.

What are the experiences that stand out for you?

Name the people who have touched your life or that you admire.

List the topics that capture your curiosity.

Consider the world's problems you want to solve.

Where are the locations you long to explore?

Review your responses to the above questions to help create a pinpoint view of your desired direction. What are the possible destinations?

